BATAAN DEFENDERS FORCED TO RETREAT

GERMANS FEAR ALLIED INVASION ATTEMPT

Troops Being Massed Along Belgian Coast

LONDON, April 8—Fearing an attempt will be made by United Nations forces to invade the continent, the Nazi high command has dispatched troops from garrisons in occupied France and massed them in towns and villages along the Belgian coast, Free French circles in London reported today.

Many German troops were said to have been taken from the Cambrai area, a "rest center" for men on leave from the Russian front. The Free French reported 400 trains, carrying men and material, were scheduled to leave France for Germany a fortnight ago. The German high command also was said to have ordered the immediate return to Germany of all rolling stock in occupied France.

An order cancelling leaves in the Paris zone was enforced a week ago, these sources said.

Dogs Being Trained For Work Against Saboteurs

CHICAGO, April 8—Pal and Tiger were ready to get down to serious work today guarding some defense plant against prowlers and saboteurs, having graduated summa cum laude from a rigorous training course of several months.

Pal and Tiger are sleek, alert Doberman-Pinscher dogs that entertain an innate suspicion of any intruder, a suspicion further cultivated by the training they have received.

And what they can do to such an intruder—even to the point of disarming him—is a marvel, as they amply demonstrated in a show they put on for amazed observers at a Chicago defense plant.

Five-year-old Pal first demonstrated how a dog in a war production plant could free a watchman or other employee who had been tied up by intruders.

With his trainer, Willy Necker, directing him, Pal rushed to the side of George Eiler, Necker's helper, who had been tied by quarter-inch rope. Pal began chewing on the rope and within 15 seconds had the knots untied and Eiler free.

Next Eiler, heavily upholstered with padding and wearing leather guards on his arms, posed as a saboteur.

"Get him!" Necker shouted to 10-year-old Tiger.

With a few long bounds, Tiger was on the fleeing Eiler, sinking his teeth in the padding of the man's right arm—the one usually employed in pulling a gun.

Eiler crossed Tiger, however, and pulled a gun with his left hand. Tiger instantly released his hold, whirled and grabbed the left arm. Eiler was able to fire the gun, loaded with blank cartridges, once, then Tiger, biting deep through the leather and into the padding, shook the gun loose and it dropped to the floor.

The dog then stood guard over the gun, growling viciously and lunging toward Eiler when Eiler made a move to retrieve the weapon.

Tiger and Pal gave a half dozen other demonstrations of how they might make it uncomfortable for saboteurs. Several of their former companions in training already are engaged in guarding defense plants in the Chicago area.

GEN. MARSHALL, HARRY HOPKINS GO TO LONDON

Mission Of Uncle Sam's Army Chief Untold As Military Secret

BRITISH FOLK SURPRISED

Big Bomber Used In Jump Across Atlantic; Many Possibilities Cited

LONDON, April 8—Bound on an "important mission" whose nature was shrouded in utmost secrecy, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army, arrived in London today on his first visit since the United States entered the war.

With him was Harry Hopkins, lend-lease administrator and close confidant of President Roosevelt, plus a small staff.

A brief official announcement merely told of their arrival, giving no details of their plans or the immediate purpose of their visit.

(Editor's Note: Washington dispatches said that more aid for the British Isles would be among the topics of their discussions with British officials, while it was assumed that General Marshall would take the opportunity

WASHINGTON, April 8—War department officials today declined to disclose the nature of the "important mission" which has taken Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Lend-Lease Administrator Harry Hopkins to London.

It was emphasized that their plans were secret and could not be discussed.

to study British defenses and inspect American troops now there.)

Used Bomber On Trip

It was believed that the combined military-economic mission, perhaps the most important to come to England since the war began, flew across the Atlantic aboard a bomber aircraft. The party landed at some undisclosed airfield in the British Isles and then proceeded to London by train.

No visiting potentate was ever more carefully guarded than General Marshall.

Less than a score of people even knew he had arrived in the country and only a small, select group was at the station to meet the party when Marshall's train drew in.

It was a "hush-hush" affair in the classic tradition, and Scotland Yard and military officials worked together to make sure there was no slip-up.

Release of the brief official announcement of Marshall's arrival created a flurry of excitement in London newspaper offices on Fleet street and there was an im-

EX-LEGION CHIEF TO ACCEPT POST UNDER HERBERT

COLUMBUS, April 8—Milo J. Warner, Toledo, past national commander of the American Legion today was appointed as an assistant attorney general to represent Ohio in Washington on legal matters involved in civilian defense.

In announcing the Warner appointment, Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert said it would expedite the handling of war-related problems and put the state in a position to receive vital information promptly, so that all state departments, boards and commissions can cooperate as fully as possible in the war effort.

Warner was an artillery captain in the last war. As legion commander, he headed a four-man commission that visited England last year to study civilian defense.

Learns India's Stand

Louis Johnson

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Indian political leader, has given Louis Johnson, above, President Roosevelt's personal envoy to India, assurances that India's millions would battle the Japanese to a finish if permitted to direct their own war efforts.

War Bulletins

This dispatch is from an enemy country. Its contents are for information only and should not be relied upon as news.

LONDON — Japanese Domei broadcast from Tokyo picked up by Reuter today claimed that "scores of enemy vessels" have been sunk in the Indian ocean since Sunday by Japanese naval and air units.

CAIRO — Alexandria suffered another air raid early today but only a few bombs were dropped. There were no casualties and damage was slight.

STOCKHOLM—The Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Social Demokraten today reported that melting snows were uncovering thousands of dead who fell during the winter on Russian battlefields.

LISBON — Several Hollanders, charged by Reich Commissioner Arthur Seyss-Inquart with "acts of violence instigated by the British radio" against Nazi occupation authorities in the Netherlands, have been shot on order of the Nazi high court, the Netherlands Indies news agency reported today. Seyss-Inquart declared that the acts of violence committed during March included "attacks on trains and also arson."

MALTA SUFFERS UNDER ALL-OUT BOMBING RAID

VALETTA, Malta, April 8 — Malta, the most raided spot on the face of the globe, underwent what was described today as the heaviest attack yet suffered when axis planes renewed assaults yesterday against the British bastion.

The latest raid brought to 2,000 the number of attacks against this Mediterranean island. A number of casualties resulted when Luftwaffe planes rained explosives on residential districts.

The Valetta harbor area was most heavily pounded by the raiders who flew in simultaneously from many different directions in an attempt to battle defense forces. The raiders also were attacked.

The raiding squadrons lost at least four planes and probably a fifth, while two others were damaged.

Individual raiders during the night caused six alerts to be sounded.

FORD'S NEW WILLOW RUN PLANT AHEAD OF PLANS

DETROIT, April 8—Ford Motor company's vast new war plane plant at Willow Run, Mich., will be completed more than a month ahead of schedule.

LANCASTER BOARD VOTES OUT DECISION AGAINST MARRIED INSTRUCTORS

LANCASTER, April 8—Lancaster board of education has rescinded a resolution prohibiting women from continuing to teach in city schools after they were married.

Board action followed a father's protest that his daughter should have a chance to continue teaching in the city schools because her husband had been called into military service. The board enacted the no married teachers' ruling 12 years ago.

BRITAIN'S PLAN MAY GO AWRY

Attention Of Indians Put On Nearness Of Japs To Their Land

NEW DELHI, April 8—Negotiations for settlement of the Indian problem took a new turn today when it was reported that the powerful all-India Congress Party is ready to make a settlement with Britain.

NEW DELHI, April 8—Noticeable increase of pessimism spread over New Delhi today as a result of what was described as a "psychological deterioration" among India's masses in the wake of Japanese raids on sub-continent soil. Alarm over the effect of the first Japanese bombings on the east coast was expressed by a leader of the all-India Congress Party as prospects of acceptance of the British plan for dominion status diminished.

Attention of Indian leaders appeared to be turning more and (Continued on Page Eight)

BOARD TO GRANT NEW CONTRACTS UNDER OHIO LAW

Circleville board of education will grant continuing contracts to all teachers meeting the requirements of the new Ohio law.

Announcement that the local board would follow the state requirements was made by J. O. Eagleson, clerk of the board, following a board meeting Tuesday night. The contracts will be granted at the board's next regular meeting.

Under the new law, any teacher who has taught for the last five years in the same school must be given a continuous contract, which shall remain in full force until the teacher resigns or retires. The law provides that the contract of any teacher may not be terminated "except for gross inefficiency or immorality; for wilful and persistent violations of reasonable regulations of the board of education, or for other good and just cause."

The board also approved the Central Hospital Service program for its teachers, following presentation of the plan by Miss Anne Worrell of Columbus. Through the hospital plan, teachers may obtain 21 days a year hospital service. Fees for the service are to be deducted from the teachers' salaries.

Floyd Dean was granted a contract to re-roof the Corwin street school building and approved the recommendation of Superintendent (Continued on Page Eight)

128 JAP PLANES KNOCKED DOWN BY U. S., ALLIES

Air Superiority Being Pushed By United Nations' Pilots Over South Pacific

HEAVY ATTACKS NOTED

Two Nipponese Cruisers Sent Down By Americans In Single Day

MELBOURNE, April 8—United Nations fliers, pressing their advantage of air superiority over northern Australia, were reported today to have knocked out at least 128 Japanese bombing and fighting planes in a series of devastating attacks.

Only 16 United Nations planes were lost in the adventures.

Heavy losses of warships, transport vessels and air base installations also were being inflicted on the Japanese, especially by American Flying Fortress bomber squadrons.

American pilots returning from actions in the New Guinea area North of the commonwealth reported that United States fliers in a single day had sunk two Japanese cruisers, set fire to another and sent several transports to the bottom.

Dispatches from Port Moresby, Australian-held base on southern New Guinea, said the toll of Japanese planes in attacks and air fights above New Guinea and the island of Timor, as well as in combat above Port Darwin, had reached 116. A communique today by the Royal Australian Air Force brought the total to 128.

Crews of Six Saved

Crews of six of the 16 United Nations planes lost in the widespread aerial actions were saved.

The R.A.A.F. announced that 11 bomber and fighter craft had been blasted on the ground in attacks yesterday at the Japanese base in Lae and that one enemy fighter had been brought down from the air by a United Nations bomber.

Destruction of a vital Japanese airbase at Lae also was reported by the Americans who arrived at United Nations headquarters somewhere in Australia after two months of fighting in territory north of the continent.

The Jap-held port of Kupang on the Dutch portion of the island of Timor also was successfully attacked despite Japanese fighter plane attempts to intercept the United Nations planes before they reached the target area.

UNCLE SAM CAN EXPECT TO BE HIT BY BOMBS

PHILADELPHIA, April 8—A warning that the United States may "fully expect" to be bombed this Summer was left here today by William L. Batt, chief of the raw materials division of the WPB.

He declared the country would be roused as mortality figures began coming in "and they will be coming soon." The nation, he predicted, will then realize "we are in a war the like of which we now do not understand."

Batt spoke to a group of RCA-Victor employees shortly after they had taken the last phonograph radio off the firm's Camden, N. J., assembly line.

SMASH IN NORTH COSTS GERMANS

Moscow Says Hundreds Of Nazi Planes Lost In Murmansk Region

MOSCOW, April 8—"Hundreds" of Nazi planes have been destroyed in unsuccessful attempts to smash the strategic Russian Arctic port of Murmansk, the Red army newspaper, Red Star, reported today.

Although the Luftwaffe attempted 119 separate raids on Murmansk, through which Russia has been receiving United Nations war supplies, all were ineffective and not a single military or industrial target was hit, Red Star said.

Smashing counter-action, Red Star said, drove the Germans out of strategic towns on the approaches to the vital port.

The Moscow radio meanwhile reported that Soviet forces, carrying the fight to the Germans along the wide front from the Arctic to the Black Sea, had recaptured an important town on the Southwest-ern Front.

Dispatches from the front told of 41 populated places being recovered by the Russians in smashing advances west and northwest of Moscow.

Gen. Gregory K. Zhukov's forces were reported pushing ahead in Smolensk province and in the sector west of Kalinin. Taking advantage of an unseasonal and fierce snowstorm in the Smolensk region, Red army units, supported by heavy tanks, forced a crossing of the upper Dnieper river between Dorogobuzh and Durova.

MAY 17 DESIGNATED AS 'I AM AN AMERICAN' DAY

WASHINGTON, April 8—President Roosevelt by proclamation today designated Sunday, May 17, as "I Am An American" day, and urged that the day be set aside as a public occasion "for the recognition of all our citizens who have attained their majority or who have been naturalized during the last year."

War Office Says Situation In Philippines Moving Nearer Crisis

GREAT LOSSES REPORTED

Japanese Hurl Overwhelming Force Against Smaller U. S., Filipino Units

WASHINGTON, April 8 —The vast Japanese superiority in men, armament and planes finally took its toll on Bataan peninsula today when Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright advised the War department that he has been forced to make a general but orderly withdrawal to new defense positions under the terrific enemy onslaught that has marked the fighting so far this week.

Indicating that the battle of Bataan has reached a desperate stage, the War department's morning communique said "our troops withdrew during the night of April 7 to a previously prepared position."

The announcement came after four successive days of terrific aerial and land bombardment during which the enemy poured wave after wave of fresh troops into the fray in an effort to smother the already greatly outnumbered American-Filipino forces. Casualties on both sides have been extremely heavy, according to the War department.

Entire Line Changed

Disclosure that the general withdrawal had been taken marked the first official admission in weeks that the entire American-Filipino battle line had been changed on Bataan.

WIFE OF BATAAN DEFENDER SENDS WORD OF CHEER

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8 —Words of cheer and encouragement were broadcast today to Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, commanding the beleaguered Philippine forces, by his wife in San Francisco.

Mrs. Wainwright came from her home in Monterey to make the special broadcast over General Electric's powerful shortwave station, KGEL.

She added a homey touch to her broadcast by bringing along Gen. Wainwright's pet dog, "Seal," and letting him bark five times into the microphone for the general.

"We have to include Seal, you know," she said. "He's an official member of the family."

Mrs. Wainwright gave her husband the first news in months of their son Jack by informing him that he now was studying for examination as first officer in the merchant marine.

"I send my love to my husband and to each man fighting with you in the Philippines," she said. "God bless you all."

EVACUATION OF NIPS ON WEST COAST CONTINUING

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8 —The Army's evacuation of Japanese aliens and citizens from prohibited Pacific coast military zones was progressing smoothly and efficiently today.

Even as thousands of the enemy aliens were headed for reception centers in California, Washington, Oregon and Arizona, Lieut. Gen. John L. Dewitt, head of the Fourth Army and western defense command, issued orders calling for the exclusion of all Japanese from two more areas in Los Angeles county.

Penney Company Reaffirms Its Thrift Policy On Anniversary

Country's Need For Universal Economy Pointed Out By National Chain Store

In a celebration featuring the historical background of the business, the J. C. Penney company marks its fourth milestone; 1609 stores all over the country are taking part in the celebration, which extends through April. The keynote of the event was set by the founder of the company, J. C. Penney:

"We have chosen thrift as the theme of our fortieth anniversary," said Mr. Penney, "because it seems to us particularly timely to stress the need for our return to pioneer simplicity."

"Today America is at war. Now, in wartime, because of the tremendous job ahead of us, we must learn again to work hard and to live simply—to put into the preserving of America what we once put into the building of it—principle." This thrift theme appears in advertising and window displays in Penney stores all over the country, together with messages reminiscent of his early store days by Mr. Penney.

Back in 1902, when Mr. Penney founded his first store, he found that many people who could ill afford it made a practice of buying everything on credit, and "paying up on pay day." He came to the conclusion that he could serve people more economically by selling only for cash, thus eliminating credit costs.

Mr. Penney found, too, that haggling over prices was a general practice, and making a purchase or a sale became a battle of wits between customer and store-keeper. It was this that decided Mr. Penney to maintain a fixed price, and as soon as his cus-

DEMING TAKES B. P. O. E. CHAIR

Impressive Service Held At Lodge; Elks Put $5,700 In Defense Bonds

Barton R. Deming, South Scioto street, is the new exalted ruler of Circleville Lodge No. 77, B. P. O. Elks, having succeeded

Tom A. Renick during colorful installation exercises conducted Tuesday evening. Deming served during the last year as leading knight, a post taken in the new corps of officers by Dr. O. J. Towers.

Other officers installed by Paul D. Miller, of Cambridge, a past exalted ruler of the local lodge, included W. Joe Burns, loyal knight; Sheldon Mader, lecturing knight; Leland Pontius, secretary; Clark Will, treasurer; C. H. May, trustee, and Eliot J. Henry, alternate representative to the Grand Lodge convention in Omaha, Neb. The new exalted ruler automatically becomes the club delegate to the convention.

A vacancy exists in the staff of officers, Howard Ater, elected as tiler, having been inducted Tuesday in the Air Corps at Patterson field, Dayton.

The new exalted ruler appointed C. Dee Early as esquire, Harold Baughman as inner guard and Fred Wittich as organist.

Following a custom established a year ago, wives and lady guests of the Elks membership were invited to attend the impressive installation service, and a goodly number were present. The ceremony followed the regular business meeting of the lodge during which reports of committees which functioned during the last year were read and approved. A statement of the lodge's financial condition was also read including announcement that during the fiscal year the lodge invested $5,700 in National Defense bonds.

Prior to the installation the retiring exalted ruler reviewed the year's activities and thanked all committeemen, officers and other members of the lodge for their cooperation.

The Elks chorus, directed by Carl C. Leist, sang three selections as a part of the program. Following the ritualistic work

A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM THE FOUNDER OF THE J. C. PENNEY COMPANY:

A TREMENDOUS TASK LIES AHEAD OF US!

Today America is at war. Now, in wartime, because of the tremendous job ahead of us, we must learn again to work hard and to live simply—to put into the preserving of America what we once put into the building of it—to return to the old ways of Thrift and Savings that were the general rule at the beginning of this century.

We feel that the Penney Company is peculiarly well equipped to make a substantial contribution toward the Thrift and Savings of the nation—because the Penney Co. knows from long experience what thrift is all about.

Thrift is nothing new to the Penney Company—it is our stock in trade. When the Penney business was founded, in 1902, hard work, and spartan living were the general rule. Our first little store in Kemmerer, Wyoming was dedicated to Thrift, and all through the years, as our business has grown, Thrift has continued to be our guiding principle.

THRIFT AND SAVINGS ARE A BIG PART OF THE JOB

The Penney Co.'s practice of Thrift and Savings is evidenced in everything we do: We buy for cash and sell for cash; we make no deliveries; we eliminate all costly frills and extravagances; we operate on an extremely small margin of profit per transaction; we buy at the source in the most economical quantities; we save at every turn! All this means that now when Thrift and Savings mean more than ever, it will pay you, it will save precious dollars for you, always to shop first at Penney's.

WE REDEDICATE OURSELVES, TODAY, ON OUR 40th ANNIVERSARY, TO THE SERVICE OF AMERICA

We rededicate ourselves to Thrift and Savings. We rededicate our 1600 stores, which now stretch from coast to coast, to the great job of helping American families to continue to live well for less.

THE PENNEY WAY IS THE THRIFTY WAY—THE THRIFTY WAY IS THE AMERICAN WAY!

COUNTIAN FILES PETITION UNDER FARM DEBT LAW

COLUMBUS, April 8 — Listing liabilities of $55,606.12 against assets of $18,335, Mrs. Audley Cook Crites, whose income is derived from extensive farming lands in Pickaway county, today petitioned the federal district court for a reorganization under the farmer's debtor clause of Section 75 of the bankruptcy law.

Audley Crites listed secured claims of $45,389.90 and unsecured claims of $9,574.29 in her liabilities. The secured claims are represented in property mortgages held by four different banks.

The Savings Bank company of Chillicothe has a first mortgage of $21,970, the Third National bank of Circleville an $8,633.53 mortgage, and the City Loan and Savings Company of Circleville a secured chattel mortgage of $800.

Three other notes held by the First National bank of Circleville for $7,765.03, $5,263.26 and $944.78 represent debts of her husband, Elliott Crites, and his mother which Audley Crites said she secured by a mortgage on her farms situated in Harrison township of Pickaway county.

Among her assets, Audley Crites declared real estate valued at $17,460, household goods of $50, automobile $100 and farm equipment amounting to $693. She claimed a property exemption of $1050.

Under the farm debtor's clause of the Bankruptcy Act, Mrs. Crites will seek an extension of time in which to repay the debts, while operating and maintaining legal title of her property.

ROTARY WILL DISCUSS ROLE IN YOUTH WORK

What part the Circleville Rotary club can play in acting as an advisory council for youth of the community will be the subject of discussion at the Rotary luncheon meeting Thursday noon in the Pickaway Arms restaurant.

The discussion will follow a Rotary program last week in which representatives from the city and county schools and from Circleville businesses talked about the problems of youth today.

A commercial film depicting tobacco raising also will be shown at the Rotary meeting.

WPB PUTS NEW BAN ON CANNED SOUPS, CYCLES

21 Kinds Of Condensed Food May Be Turned Out After June 30

SOLID CONTENT FIXED

Vehicles With Frames Of More Than 17 Inches Ruled Out

New regulations for canned goods and bicycles were disclosed Wednesday by the WPB, affecting housewives, canning factories and cyclists.

After June 30 only 21 kinds of condensed soup will be marketed in tin cans. The WPB decreed also that 21 kinds must contain certain percentages of solids to improve their nutritive value. Canners will be permitted to equal 1941 production of the 21 varieties, according to the announcement made in Washington.

Tinned soups permitted under the June 30 decree and the percentage of solids required include beef and vegetable beef, 12 percent; chicken, chicken gumbo, chicken noodle, gumbo creole, consommé and bouillon, six percent; tomato, asparagus, spinach and fresh green peas, seven percent; clam or fish chowder, eight percent; Scotch broth, vegetable, pepper pot, ox tail, mock turtle, country style chicken, corn chowder, 10 percent.

The newest bicycle order extends the freezing decree to take in all bicycles having frames of more than 17 inches. The original order applied to cycles with frames of larger than 19 inches, but it was shown that an 18-inch camel-back frame—one with a double bar, was as well adapted to adult use as the conventional 20-inch diamond frame.

Adult bicycles for women, moreover, are about the same size, or the "camel-back" frames. Both are brought under the sales freeze by the new amendment.

Children's bicycles, defined as those with frames of 17 inches and under, are not affected by the freeze order, but their production was halted on April 1.

Production of the Victory model, a light-weight adult bike stripped of gadgets and bright-work, has not been halted, but the sale and delivery of Victory bicycles is prohibited by the freezing order.

"Plans are now being made for the orderly disposition of bicycles now frozen and those being produced," WPB said, "so that defense workers will have first chance to get them, with other civilian needs coming next."

'HOLLYWOOD PREMIERE' TO BE OFFERED TWO NIGHTS

Councilmen To Discuss Their Financial Task

With a deficit of more than $6,000 in the general fund, city council will meet as a committee of the whole Wednesday night to study suggestions made by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce on how it might either boost its revenue or cut its expenses.

Frank A. Lynch, chairman of the council finance committee, will be in charge of the meeting. Since the meeting has been called merely for the purpose of discussion, no action is expected.

W. B. Boden of the research department of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce made the survey at the request of Mr. Lynch and presented it to council on March 11. One of Boden's conclusions was that "The financial distress in which Cincinnati finds itself at the present time is due mainly to the practice of issuing bonds which have been retired from future operating money. This has been done since 1936. It is absolutely necessary that this practice, which was carried on as recently as 1941, be stopped. There is no justifiable reason to issue bonds today that restrict the general operation of the city in future years, as there is no assurance that conditions will be any better."

A report of city finances as of April 1, read in council last Wednesday night, showed outstanding bills of more than $8,000. Bills for fire hydrant rentals now total $6,912 and hospital bills total $1,798.95, with only $280.44 in the hospital fund with which to make payment.

Council has authorized the city treasurer to obtain a $10,000 advance from the county treasurer on city taxes, although the money has not yet been received.

33 FACE PRISON FOR CEMETERY LOT CONSPIRACY

COLUMBUS, April 8—Only two of 35 persons charged with using the mails to defraud and conspiracy in the sale of Central Ohio cemetery lots were free of the charges today.

A federal court jury of 12 men, after deliberating since last Wednesday, returned guilty verdicts against 33 of the defendants last night. Judge Robert R. Nevin will pass sentence.

The maximum penalty for using the mails to defraud is 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine; for conspiracy, not more than two years, and a $10,000 fine.

The only two acquitted of the charges were Thomas H. Malloy, of Marion, auditor of Forest Glen, Inc., the company sponsoring the cemetery-lot sales, and Gus F. Bieher, of Bucyrus, a salesman.

Principal defendants found guilty were Robert Marshall, of Marion, vice president and general manager of Forest Glen, and J. W. Jacoby, also of Marion, former president and counsel for the sales organization which promoted sales of burial lots at Marion, Columbus and Springfield.

Marshall and Jacoby were found guilty on all 10 counts on which they were indicted, nine of them using the mails to defraud and one of conspiracy.

Others convicted on all 10 counts were:

Carl Bremman, Cleveland; G. F. Buck, Marion; William N. Clark, Columbus; R. C. Deck, Toledo; W. C. DeWeese, Columbus; William S. Holcombe, Columbus; Earl H. Holliday, Highland Park, Mich.; A. L. Mallott, Marion; W. Hal Marshall, Morenci, Mich.; Earl Pardee, Findlay; George Reinwald, Marion; Dan S. Riggie, Columbus; R. S. Trafton, Jamestown, N. Y.; and Harry J. Wildermuth, Columbus.

Those found guilty on one count of using the mails to defraud were:

William A. Bennett, Washington, D. C.; Hiram Berry, Toledo; E. G. Blue, Marion; L. A. Cratty, Marion; Howard R. Dustin, Westerville; Byron L. McClure, Columbus; S. C. Neidigh, Marion; William H. Rothert, Columbus; William L. Rucker, Salem; Paul Secord, Delaware; Karl G. Snyder, Washington C. H.; G. F. Stott, Springfield; H. C. Van Gilder, Columbus; Eugene J. Van Kuren, Marion; T. B. Wildermuth, Columbus; C. O. Willey, Marion; and C. F. Walter, Cleveland.

There are said to be more Swedish people living in Chicago than in any other city in the world except Stockholm.

FARM LEADERS MEET IN CITY

Representatives From Nine Counties To Discuss Wheat Problem

Agricultural representatives from nine counties were meeting in Cincinnati Wednesday to discuss the wheat outlook and marketing quotas for this year.

The district AAA meeting included county committeemen, county fieldwomen, county agricultural agents and other agricultural officials. D. D. Deeds of the state AAA office, George Condon of the AAA publicity department and Harry Donahoe, district AAA field representative were among those present. The meeting was being held in the basement of Betz' restaurant.

Wheat marketing vote will be held May 2 and probably will be conducted similar to the vote last year, with farmers going to township stations to cast their ballots.

Counties represented at the district meeting were Licking, Fairfield, Madison, Fayette, Clinton, Ross, Franklin, Highland and Pickaway.

SCOUTS OUTLINE PLAN TO GATHER PAPER IN CITY

Youths who are members of Boy Scout troop No. 205, sponsored by the Presbyterian church and with Arthur Wagar as scoutmaster, are embarking on an extensive campaign in which they hope to help the National Defense effort and at the same time strengthen their treasury.

The boys are planning a house to house campaign in an effort to collect waste paper. The need for waste paper has been stressed many times by government officials, and the scouts feel they can be doing their bit by joining in the program.

Members of the troop will start Saturday, April 18, by making contacts with housewives of the city asking that their waste paper be put aside for collection. The youths intend to start gathering up paper on May 2, and will make regular collections every two weeks after that time.

The youths are asking cooperation in their program.

PROFESSOR KILLED

COLUMBUS, April 8 — Dr. James Weaver, 59, nationally known mathematics professor at Ohio State university, was killed when his automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train near his Hilliards home.

I found the way to amazing new pep... vitality... better looks!

A truly marvelous change can be brought about by overcoming miserable digestive complaints, under-weight, sluggishness, loss of appetite—all by two important steps—

● Restore vital digestive juices in the stomach... energize your body with rich, red blood. Here's how!

If you are one of those unfortunate who have worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, have been vexed by overtaxing worries, or have suffered with colds, the flu, or other illness... yet have no organic trouble or focal infection... and your red blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is what should help you!

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build up blood strength when deficient... to revive and stimulate those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... pep... become animated... more attractive!

Build sturdy health

Because S.S.S. is in liquid form it begins its work as soon as you take it. Surprising results may be had by making the S.S.S. treatment a part of your daily diet. Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it usually gets results—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health and makes you feel like yourself again." © S.S.S. Co.

SAWYER NOT TO ENTER RACE FOR GOVERNOR POST

CINCINNATI, April 8—Charles Sawyer, Democratic national committeeman and his party's gubernatorial nominee in 1938, today removed himself from consideration in this year's race with the statement, "I am not a candidate for governor."

Sawyer denied rumors that he had been withholding from announcing for governor because of "any reported federal position to be offered me."

A veteran of the first World War where he rose to the rank of major, Sawyer has maintained prime physical condition. Before giving his decision not to be a gubernatorial candidate, Sawyer was given a physical checkup by his physician who pronounced him in "fine shape."

"Intimate friends," Sawyer asserted in his prepared statement, "well know I have felt for some months that I did not want to seek any office at this time. My only interest is to see this country win the war and to see all groups and parties united behind the President to accomplish that end."

ATTORNEY APPOINTED

Judge Meeker Terwilliger assigned Harry L. Margulis of Ashville, Wednesday, as counsel for Elmer Brown of Chillicothe indicted for armed robbery. Brown is charged with being one of the three bandits involved in the stickup of the Gold Cliff filling station April 9, 1937. He, Arthur Ogan and Albert Ogan, all have denied the charges against them. Brown and Albert Ogan are in county jail and Arthur Ogan is free under bond.

NAMING THE WAR
THE President is said to want a name for this war. It needs a better name than the one now in general use—the "Second World War." There is no punch or distinction in that. The present conflict has elements of difference from the last war or any other war we have fought. A suitable name would vividly suggest this difference.

What is the main difference now? For one thing, this seems to be literally a war for mastery of the whole world, far more pretentious and inclusive than the last war. If the aggressors succeeded, there would be, presumably, a global dictatorship, with complete destruction of democracy and personal liberty. It would be a stern government without religion, presumably without the graces that now adorn normal life, without culture, without kindness, without the things that mankind for at least 2500 years has regarded as civilization.

Perhaps the "War for Civilization" would be as accurate as any other name, but it seems too long. How about the "War Against War"? Or the "War for Peace?"

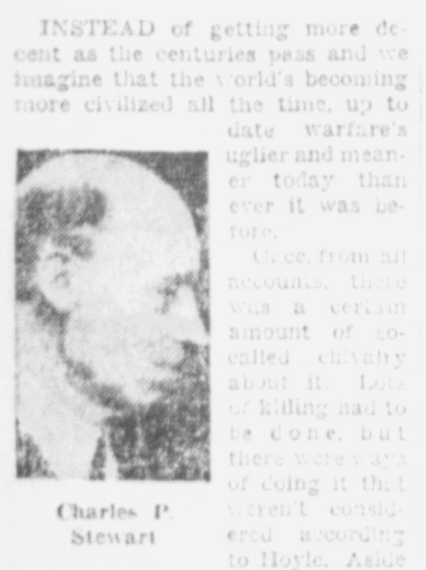

ELIMINATING GADGETS
WATCH-MAKING machinery can be used for making precision instruments of various kinds, and fuses. Fuses can also be made from machines which turn out cigar-lighters. Plate-glass manufacturing equipment can make machine-gun emplacements, and the machines that make coffee strainers serve also to produce flyers' kits.

In many of these cases civilian production will soon take a long vacation. We shall probably continue to have watches and coffee strainers. Cigar-lighters just now seem less vital. So will many other gadgets that we now accept as a normal part of life.

In the last war doughboys who had to carry all their possessions in packs on their backs soon found out what was absolutely necessary and what they could go without. We shall learn the same lesson before long.

Were you an April Fool? You know—the kind who found out on April 1 that he hadn't bought his War Bond in March? There's only one way to turn that folly into wisdom—buy double your quota in April.

WORLD AT A GLANCE —By— Charles P. Stewart

Charles P. Stewart

INSTEAD of getting more decent as the centuries pass and we imagine that the world's becoming more civilized all the time, up to date warfare is uglier and meaner today than ever it was before.

Circleville from all accounts, there was a certain amount of civility about it. Lots of killing and to be done, but there were ways of doing it that weren't considered according to Hoyle. As for the rules regarding homicide, there were other rules that respectable gentlemen observed. Women were supposed to be respected, children spared and miscellaneous measures of civility were deprecated.

That such principles were a good deal disregarded, even during the dark ages, there's no question. Nevertheless, fighters who did disregard them were looked on as barbarians by their own contemporaries and they've come down in history as barbarians.

Now everything goes.

The Japs, to be sure, profess still to stand pat for chivalrous ideals, embodied in their spirit of Bushido's code.

Horrible Outrages

Well, they've occupied a good bit of white man's territory in the course of their recent operations, and all the testimony is to the effect that, everywhere they've done so, they've perpetrated the most horrible outrages, with women particularly as their victims. It appears that their commanders have deliberately encouraged this program, with a view to knocking Caucasian morale into a cocked hat. It may have that effect in the long run, but it's the Jap plan, any day.

There's their spirit of Bushido for you!

In the countries the Nazis have overrun there naturally is plenty of native resistance and an inclination, on the home folk's part, to bump off one of the invaders, when two or three of 'em catch him alone on a dark street and can get away with it. Such an incident is an informality undoubtedly, and if the Germans are able to pin one of 'em onto its real authors, it's rather to be expected that they'll deal with him summarily. Generally, though, they can't catch 'em. If not, they're customarily rounded up about 100 of the local population, who haven't done a thing to be punished for, and executed 'em.

If that doesn't constitute a series of massacres, what IS it equivalent to?

One old-fashioned notion was that poison wasn't a legitimate weapon to employ against an enemy people. Latest dope is to the effect that Germany and Japan both are about to resort to it—but with modern improvements.

Scientists weren't familiar with disease germs back in antiquity. Plain poison was the only stuff available to any intelligent unethical enough to utilize it, and it was unhandy to disseminate. A well, for example, could be poisoned, but after a few individuals had drunk from its contents and fallen into convulsions, other folk steered clear of it.

Disease germs, though, spilled from an airplane, say, or planted by a "fifth columnist," will attend to their own distribution.

They could start, illustratively, a typhus epidemic.

It's a campaign that Herr Hitler and the Mikado are suspected of intending to inaugurate.

Health Service Watching
Surgeon General Thomas Parran of the United States Public Health Service has been consulted on the subject and is on the alert to take the necessary steps to meet the situation the minute the first germ begins to manifest itself.

Personally I don't see why it's a much dirtier trick to kill a man with a germ than with a chunk of lead or a scrap of shrapnel. To the killer it's obviously immaterial which way he does it, and I'd think it would be equally immaterial to the killed, but old timers, with bows and arrows, theorized differently.

It's true, indeed, that germs don't discriminate between actual snappers and women, children and assorted civilians, but neither does an airplane, bombing an open city, and that, in our current generation, is quite customary and is recognized as fair warfare.

Submarines are kinda sneakin' also, but they don't seem as much so as germs, because we're more accustomed to 'em.

However, is the world any more civilized than it was eight or ten hundred years back?

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN
Mervyn K. Hart Boomerangs

WASHINGTON — Deadliest testimony against the Vinson-Smith bill to repeal the 40-hour week did not come from WPB Chief Donald Nelson or Labor Leaders Bill Green and Phil Murray, though the trio got the headlines. It came from one of the most militant advocates of the measure.

He was Mervyn K. Hart, head of the New York State Economic Council, who appeared as a witness for the legislation. But his testimony quickly turned into a stinging boomerang when Representative Mike Bradley of Pennsylvania started grilling Hart about his background.

Among other things, Hart admitted: (1) That he had been an active foe of the Land-Lease program; (2) that he had been a member of the America First Committee; (3) that he attended the anti-Roosevelt rally in Madison Square Garden, at which Fritz Kuhn and other Bundists were present; and (4) that his organization advocated disfranchising relief workers.

While admitting that his organization had "participated" in the New York meeting, Hart vehemently denied any relations with the Bund.

"Fritz Kuhn wasn't invited," Hart declared. "He just happened to show up."

"Has your organization ever advocated disfranchising WPA workers and other people on relief?" asked Bradley.

"Yes, we believed that such people shouldn't have the right to vote."

There were two very red faces in the committee room when Hart concluded his damaging testimony. They belonged to Representatives Carl Vinson of Georgia and Howard Smith of Virginia, co-authors of the repeal bill.

BOOMERANG

Federal Housing Commissioner Abner Ferguson prepared a speech for delivery before the American Bankers association in New York City and in accordance with regulations submitted the manuscript to the Office of Facts and Figures for approval.

The speech came back with a note from Captain Robert Kintner noting an "inaccuracy" on page six.

In the most formal and restrained language, Ferguson replied to this effect: "Dear Captain Kintner: I have taken note of the 'inaccuracy' contained in my prepared address, but I desire respectfully to call your attention to the fact that this passage was taken from the 'Report to the Nation,' prepared and issued by the Office of Facts and Figures."

Many Distressing Forms Of Allergy in Children

By LOGAN GLENDENING, M. D.

ALLERGY is, as it is almost unnecessary to define nowadays, a state of hypersensitivity which some individuals have to certain foods, dust, animal odors, plant pollens and various other substances. When these individuals come in contact with one of these substances, this hypersensitivity causes symptoms in various parts of the body.

Hay fever, asthma and hives, to name the commonest forms of allergy, are conditions of this type. Why some people have this hypersensitivity and others do not is unknown, although it is quite definitely of an hereditary character.

Allergy may appear in persons in childhood or in later life. I have known of two sisters, one was afflicted with hay fever in childhood while the other was perfectly free of it until about the age of thirty when she too developed hay fever.

In children allergy takes several forms: they may have hay fever or asthma. They are particularly likely to have a peculiar reaction of the mucous membrane of the nose which becomes swollen and boggy and causes a running drainage and a chronic cold.

Disturbances of Stomach

Another form of allergy in children attacks the digestive system and there may be attacks of disturbance of the stomach with cramp, a chronic gaseous distention and diarrhoea followed by constipation.

One type of digestive disturbance due to allergy in children is cyclic vomiting. This comes on in attacks beginning in the prodromal period with loss of appetite, listlessness and irritability, languor and a little fever and then later, a pain in the pit of the stomach, gastric disturbance and finally the vomiting which lasts from twenty-four to forty-eight hours, followed by severe prostration. This does not occur in adults and the patient eventually wears it out. The average age of these patients is seven and one-half years and the symptoms appear periodically for three to four years. Sometimes they also have asthma and hives and other skin eruptions.

Another form of allergy which affects children almost exclusively is infantile eczema. These poor little tots about the age of one year begin to have raw, scaly, itchy areas on the face and hands which constitute a very distressing condition. No one can blame the baby for being irritable and touchy and unresponsive.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Glendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by request. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Glendenning, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Relief from Hay Fever," "Infantile Eczema," "Reducing and Gaining Weight," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE
"WHAT ABOUT ME?" Anette demanded when it became apparent that her husband intended to spend all his time furthering the interests of Sandra Owens.

They were in the glassed-in breakfast room the morning after Walter had returned to Chicago. The Filipino served the rush meal of raw egg yolk in pineapple juice and black coffee that Larry had ordered.

Anette watched her husband drink the glass of fruit juice without once stopping, then queried again, "What about me? You promised."

"Later, darling, later. In a few days." The man took some quick swallows of hot coffee. "I have so much on my mind right now."

The girl's dark head dropped until her chin was buried in the neck folds of her stiff silk brocade housecoat. "Sure," she muttered darkly, "Sandra Owens."

"All right. What if it is? Someone has to look after girls like that. While you're being jealous, be jealous of more than one. I've helped at least a half dozen different kids at Critteron."

Chin still dipped low, the girl's eyes lifted to stare at Larry. "Laurence Peyton, the philanthropist," she mocked. "He helps everyone except his own wife."

His eyes were cold. Ignoring her caustic remark, he criticized her sloppy position. "That's a very good way to develop a double chin, better known as a goatee."

Immediately she lifted her head so that the rounded contour of her chin was not a part of her throat. "Why won't you help me, Larry?"

Her nagging insistence irritated him so strongly that he slammed his napkin to the table and sprang to his feet. "Because I don't figure you need help." He gesticulated wildly. "You have everything."

The girl also got up. "I don't figure I have everything simply because I go about all bedecked in expensive clothes and jewels that smack people in the eyes and because I live in a Spanish-style house, the size of a city courthouse, with wild pigs running all over the walls, a house that doesn't even belong to me." That bit of sarcasm she could not help adding brought the livid color to her husband's face.

He yelled at her. "A house that will belong to you is practically finished. It was to be worn in it out of me with nasty remarks." He pulled a few purple grapes from a bunch in the buffet fruit bowl, and crunched them with unnecessarily violent movements of his jaws. "One of the biggest houses in Bel Air," he snapped.

Still hateful, she said, "Just like putting up another billboard with the name Laurence Peyton written on it. I hope it has plenty of extra rooms for your sponging friends."

Larry, don't keep buying me with jewelry and material things when it is so simple a matter to make me happy." Schofield's face flashed before her. "Just let me get back to work. It's so important that I get back to work."

"Why? To pay off the mortgage or something?" Anette, a girl like Sandra Owens has to work or she doesn't eat."

"Oh, stop being so dramatic. I believe you're in love with Sandra." The words came out clearly, but she felt as if someone's fingers were clamped about her throat.

Snorting impatiently, he moved from the breakfast room into the library, where he picked up the near-white velvet corduroy porkpie which he was making popular throughout the nation and which he would discard when it became common. It matched exactly his sloppy sport jacket.

The silken skirts of the girl's housecoat rattled as she almost ran to keep up with him. "Answer me, Larry!"

He stood still then and reached out toward her. "Anette," he said, pulling her into his arms. "I'm not in love with Sandra or anyone else—except you. Oh, you little fool! Why, sometimes when we are seated at a dinner table, with people all about, I look at you and I'm amazed at the thrill I feel after having been married to you almost three years. I feel the same warm glow that I do from the first little sip of rare brandy. It is a crazily intoxicating sensation, and a darned pleasant one." He was kissing her between words. "So, darling, please believe I love you. When the work's all done next fall perhaps I'll get time to tell you."

Instead of letting the issue lapse, Anette insisted childishly. "You may not be in love with Sandra Owens but she certainly is in love with you."

Larry, wanting to leave for the studio, picked up his car keys and said swiftly, "Sure—lots of girls love me."

"Just like saying, 'I ate oatmeal for breakfast,'" the girl commented dryly.

Still serious, her husband stared back. "Well, it's true. You said that yourself. I don't intend it as a conceited statement. It's the same as saying six feet three inches, dark hair and so forth, on a driver's license, for example, it's simply a fact."

"She may prove disagreeable." "Now you sound like August. She was never happy unless she was jawing about something. Please stop fussing, my adored shrew. Simply because I try to help the girl. She needs me."

Anette burst into a gale of rude laughter. "That is a trashy line if ever I heard one. For the last time, are you going to do something about me?"

"In a few days, dear."

"No," she shook her head. "I don't intend to wait any longer. I'll do it myself."

His eyes narrowed and then he gave her an almost sneering smile. "Go ahead. See how far you get with that 'Princess Pretty Maiden' style of acting you learned from Verrazano."

On his way out he slammed three doors. Four, counting that of his car.

In direct opposition to Schofield's instructions, Anette left Larry again, although this time she asked his permission, instead of just leaving as she had for her tour with Lois Lyndon. She simply had Emma pack a few clothes, then accompany her to a little Mexican town called Empalme, near Guaymas, Sonora, where they left the train and were taxied three miles to the Palaya de Cortes.

"I'll be down in a couple of weeks," Lois had directed. "Meanwhile, do exactly as I tell you."

Consequently, Anette started a real rest. Except for the emerald greenness of the Gulf of California she might have been on the desert. The air was so fine and dry, the sun so warmly healthful. Each day she lay beneath glaring skies, until the pinkish tint that had started with the first five minutes sunning, was deepening to a deep bamboo beige that made her hair darker and her teeth more gleamingly white.

She shunned people. In fact, except for sun baths, she hid in her room. Meals were brought in to her and Emma. The girl spent hours in that bedroom, filled with the fragrance of cedar from the hand-carved Mexican furniture. She pattered about barefooted over the colorful tiled floors, enjoying either the waters of the bay, or the desert and mountains. Perhaps she read; more often she slept.

As soon as Lois Lyndon arrived she telephoned Anette instead of going to her room. After a rather short conversation she said, "See you tonight."

The dark-haired girl found her fingers shaking as she was dressing to go to the dining room for the first time. It was a good thing Emma's helpful fingers were steady.

Lois Lyndon saw her friend walking across the tiled floor of the beamed and high-ceilinged dining room directly toward her table, and noted with a rush of admiration the newly-acquired rich, cream-colored tan, the full sensuous lips, painted a hibiscus shade, the heavy fringes of black eyelashes. She wore a short dinner dress, unrelieved except for the heavy gold cross about her neck, and a little head covering of metallic thread lace draped over her brilliant curls.

Lois was giving her order. "Guaymas oysters and lobster—" Exasperated, she ceased speaking, to accost her brother. "What on earth are you staring at, Jimmy?"

His appreciative gaze was fixed upon Anette, who, instead of moving to the Lyndons' table, had sat down directly back of them. But he did not speak to her. Neither did Lois. "Stop gawking."

"Why shouldn't I? She's well worth it, and decidedly different from anyone I've ever seen." A twinkle lit his blue eyes as the old man, seated with them, swung about and deliberately purred, "In a few days, dear."

Even when the dark-haired girl gave him a glance of pure haughtiness over her sherry glass, neither his curiosity nor his disposition was affected. Though he turned away it was only to oust the grumbling James Lyndon from his chair, so that he could watch the face and gestures of the girl in the metallic and lace head shawl.

"Pure Goya," he said reverently. "Oh bla bla! Abber jabber!" prattled Lois like a rude child. "You came down here to fish, to get away from all the brunettes who want to be Mona. Now you're staring at—"

Lois Lyndon stopped chattering and reached out to give her brother's hand a squeeze of congratulation, for, having taken a firm hold on his nerve, old man Carruthers of Zenith, Incorporated, was approaching the haughty-faced dark-haired girl.

Superintendent Of City Schools League Speaker

Educator Covers Varied Field In Address

Frank Fischer, superintendent of Circleville schools, was guest speaker Tuesday at the annual Guest Day luncheon meeting of the Child Conservation League at Pickaway Arms. Thirty-five members and guests enjoyed his fine talk following the luncheon at 12:30 p. m.

"The Magazines Look at the Teacher," the topic mentioned in the league year book for his address, was used in reverse by Mr. Fischer who stated his subject to be "The Teacher Looks at the Magazine" or "When You and I Read the News."

In developing his theme, he discussed first effectiveness of men teachers in the first eight grades as well as in the last four, and also his idea of what constitutes a perfect teacher. The first requisite of a perfect teacher he declared to be "open mindedness" and mentioned the school room as no place for politics or religions. Two things he considered essential, pupils should be taught to read and should be left with the fundamentals of an open mind.

He brought home his lesson of open mindedness in connection with news by telling incidents concerning men and affairs of the last few years, beginning with Lindbergh. While free speech is an inherent right, its use should be temperate in war time, he said.

He advised against making things too easy for the young, saying that they cannot take tragedy unless they have learned to hold up under defeat. In this connection he stated that progressive education with its fundamental cornerstone that we all must be happy with what we are doing does not hold water.

While speaking with deep feeling of the "Days of Prayer" being observed by Christian peoples of the world, he urged that it be not forgotten that "God helps those who help themselves." Mentioning us as "creatures of emotion and intellect" he stated in closing that "It is not asking too much, when open mindedness means so much, to remember that we are creatures of intellect, as well as of emotion."

Mrs. Howard Newell Stevenson, president of the league, spoke briefly before turning the program over to Mrs. Joe W. Adkins Jr., who presented Mr. Fischer.

An informal social hour around the luncheon table concluded the affair.

Mrs. Harry Heffner, Mrs. Adkins and Mrs. Robert D. Musser as hostesses were responsible for the lovely decorations of Spring flowers on the luncheon table and the appropriate place card favors.

D. U. V.

An excellent attendance marked the Tuesday meeting of the Daughters of Union Veterans in the Post room, Memorial hall. Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, president, led the ritualistic work with all officers in their chairs.

The evening was devoted to preparation for the coming inspection meeting, May 5.

Logan Elm Grange

"After Victory, What Then?" was the subject of group discussions during the lecture hour of Logan Elm grange at the meeting Tuesday in Pickaway school auditorium. The discussions were handled by grangers in groups of six. Sixty-five were present.

Nelson Warner, worthy master, was in the chair for the brief business hour.

Mrs. Leon Van Vleet and two of her piano pupils, Clifford Lewis and Polly Jane Kerns, played two piano trios, "Waltzing Through Spring" and "Fanfare Militaire." Group singing after the discussion period was accompanied by Clifford Kerns.

All grangers participated in the closing musical games. The program was arranged by Mrs. Turney Pontius, worthy lecturer.

Mrs. William Hegele and her committee served refreshments.

Circle 4

Circle 4 of the W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Meeker Terwilliger, East Main street, with 23 members present. Mrs. Malcolm Parrett, group chairman, led the group in the opening hymn. The devotions were continued with prayer by Mrs. H. Harvey and the scripture lesson from Galatians by Miss Gladys Noggle.

A playlet, "He also lived in a Lily", was presented by Mrs. Richardson, Miss Noggle and Miss Phyllis Hawkes. The devotions were closed with a quartet selection by Mrs. Russell Jones, Mrs. Hawkes, Mrs. Harry Radcliff and Miss Carrie Lamasters, followed by the Lord's Prayer.

A spelling match in charge of Mrs. Hawkes was won by Mrs. Richardson.

Lunch was served by Mrs. George Ankrom, Mrs. Stanley Goodman, Mrs. Arthur Ankrom and Mrs. E. L. Pritchard.

Westminster Bible Class

Mrs. Christian Schwarz discussed the home nursing project of the Civilian Defense program at the delightful meeting of the Westminster Bible class Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Charles Smith, East Main street. Mrs. Orin W. Dreisbach conducted the opening service and received the annual reports of Mrs. G. G. Campbell, secretary, and Mrs. Marvin Steeley, treasurer, before turning the meeting to Mrs. Smith, incoming president.

Plans were made for the Mother's Day Banquet for May 11 in the social room of the church. The dinner will be served by Division II of the Ladies Aid society. All women of the church and their guests are invited. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. B. T. Hedges.

It was voted to open the meetings at 8 p. m. instead of 7:30. Tea and cookies were served by the president and her incoming corps of officers. Eighteen were present for the evening.

Birthday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Rance Arledge of near Williamsport entertained recently in honor of the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Arledge's twin sons, Roy and Floyd Birchwell. Roy Birchwell is home on furlough from Indiantown Gap, Pa.

Present were Mrs. John Welch and Norma Jean Garner of Circleville; Mrs. Dee St. John, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Carl Drake and son, Ronald, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Alex, son Roger and daughter Sandra Jean, of Columbus; Mrs. William Hawkins of Boston, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Birchwell, son Tommy and daughter Rita Kay.

Nebraska Grange

Bernard Heskett, of the teaching staff of Walnut school, told of his experiences during his travels with the caravan of the recent Northwest Territory celebration, Tuesday, at the meeting of Nebraska grange in the grange hall. Fifty-one grangers were deeply interested in his unusually fine talk.

Homer Reber, worthy master, conducted the business meeting, all officers being in their chairs.

Mrs. Ray Plumb, chairman of the grange, announced the closing of the state grange cake contest because of the sugar rationing. In its place, the grange has planned a bread baking contest which Nebraska grange voted to enter.

Eugene Smith, legislative agent, and Archie Peters commented on the excessively high salaries paid some government workers.

The lecture hour program arranged by Miss Nelle Osterle was opened and closed with accordion solos by Miss Helen Louise Dennis.

Advisory Council

Advisory Council No. 3 will meet Friday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John Fry of Jackson township.

Loyal Daughters' Class

Twenty-six members and visitors attended the meeting of the Loyal Daughters' class of the United Brethren church held Tuesday in the community house. Mrs. Charles Richardson was in charge of the devotional service which included group singing, a vocal duet by Mrs. Charles Hurtt and Mrs. Frank Hawkes and the scripture lesson from Galatians by Miss Gladys Noggle.

A playlet, "He also lived in a Lily", was presented by Mrs. Richardson, Miss Noggle and Miss

ASHVILLE

Recreation committee of the Civilian Defense Council is sponsoring a benefit card party Friday night, April 10, at 8 o'clock. The proceeds from this party will be used to buy furnishings for the Community club room. The Community club recently leased the second floor of the Odd Fellows building and it has been papered, painted and is now ready for furnishings. It will be used for community purposes and also as a recreation room and for the soldiers when they arrive at the Lockbourne air base.

There is going to be a new unit of Boy Scouts sponsored by the Lutheran, Methodist and United Brethren churches of Ashville. Scoutmastered by Charles D. Eversole, the new troop has a scout committee made up of the following men: Rev. Dwight F. Woodworth, chairman, Herman D. Fudge, Clifton E. Mahaffey, Harold J. Bowers, O. W. Smith, Frank G. Hudson, Ernest F. Martin and Robert J. Cline. The eight Charter members of this new unit are Billy Lee Glick, Charles Leatherwood, Gale Leatherwood, Dale Schiff, Richard Hudson, James Woodworth, Carl Dennis and Harry Fry. The committee chairman, Rev. Woodworth, stated that there might be a meeting a week from tonight although nothing is yet definite. The home for the Scouts will be decided in the very near future. All of the boys except Dale Schiff have had some scouting. They have planned to carry these eight boys along for six or eight months and then add another patrol or group of eight boys.

Three girls went to Columbus to the United States Employment service, to have interviews and to put in their application for jobs. The three girls were Mary Sarah Elasmere, Mary Helen Dennis and Dorothy Wellington. Wednesday at 9:30 three more girls are going to Circleville to have an interview there and then hear the lecture in the afternoon. It is thought that more of the Ashville seniors will go than the three girls, Betty Myers, Margaret Nance, and Erma Ruth Bowers, for the afternoon lecture, which will instruct pupils of their chance in the future.

The Higleys had a regular homecoming when both of their sons, Charles Higley and Joe Higley and wife and child came home over the Easter vacation. Joe Higley and family came from Chicago, Illinois where he is working and Charles from Dayton, Ohio. They also had, as Sunday guests, Mrs. Higley's mother, Mrs. Myers, and daughter, Helen.

Walter Cummings purchased from Emanuel Schaal near Laurelville this week, his 70 head of fat steers with an average weight of 1100 pounds. These were trucked to the Columbus market.

floors in New York office buildings so that her children might be educated. Appreciating deeply the opportunities of America, she sent her boy Joe to Dartmouth, and then to Harvard Law School.

His brilliance was recognized. Now he presides over immigration matters in the Justice Department.

Every year, Mrs. Fanelli comes to Washington to see Joe. She comes on his name day—Saint Joseph's Day, March 19.

But this year she didn't come. Joe wondered what was wrong. Next day, however, she appeared, overjoyed to see him, but still upset about what had happened.

"Dat District Attorney," cried Mrs. Fanelli, "he don' latta me come see my Joe! I tell heem my boy Joe eesa beeg man in Washington. But he don' lat me come. What'sa matter?"

The matter was that Mrs. Fanelli, 37 years a resident of the United States, and the mother of an important official in the Justice Department, was obliged to get a permit from the District Attorney before she could leave the country.

Reason: She is an "enemy alien."

Note: The case of Mrs. Fanelli is typical of thousands of others along the Atlantic seaboard. These cases are causing the Justice Department and even the Army to think twice about proposals to move "alien enemies" inland.

MILITARY INFORMATION

No announcement has been made, but the Senate and House Military Affairs Committees have won their battle to be kept informed of the progress of the war effort.

During World War I, the two committees were kept advised of military developments abroad and war production at home at confidential sessions with Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, chief statistical officer of the War Department. Ayres holds the same post in this war, and last year began a similar series of these meetings.

But they were abruptly ended after Pearl Harbor. Chairman Andrew J. May of the House Committee complained to Secretary Stimson, and got the explanation that the War Department wanted to avoid "leaks."

This drew such irate protests from both committees that Stimson has backed down and Ayres has been authorized to resume his reports on "the inside lowdown."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

If you have a son, relative or friend going into the Army, give him a copy of "To the Colors," by Col. R. Ernest Dupuy, the Army's ace author. Brief and readable, the book will give the young soldier a lot of helpful information about his new life. . . . Wage-Hour Administrator L. M. Walling has the dubious record of being the first to run afoul of the White House order that all speeches and statements by government executives must be submitted for approval. The young Rhode Island socialite, who owes his job to Secretary Perkins, made two speeches without first submitting them and has been sharply rebuked by the White House.

REDS GET TWO HOMERS IN DEFEATING BOSTON

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 8—The Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Red Sox today were to play before horse racing fans in Lexington for the opening of Keeneland tomorrow. Cincinnati handed the Sox a 11 to 2 shellacking at Louisville yesterday as every member of the winning team hit safely at least once. In all, the Reds collected 16 safeties, two of them homers by Gee Walker and Ival Goodman.

FELLER HELPS NAVY WIN FIRST

Chief Boatwain's Mate-Pitcher Bob Feller

In the uniform of the Norfolk, Va., Naval Training Station team instead of that of the Cleveland Indians, Bob Feller is pictured above as he helped the Norfolk naval cadets defeat the University of Richmond at Norfolk, 13-1. Though he allowed Richmond its only run, Feller's fast one burned the plate during three innings he pitched.

Nation's Greatest Golf Tournament To Start

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 8—A tournament in which the golfer with the neat short game excels and the gent with the long drives is at a disadvantage—that's the $5,000 Masters' tournament that takes up its ninth annual stand at the Augusta National Golf club tomorrow.

And that factor—the superiority of the short game over the hefty drives—will get you almost any odds you want to name around Augusta, if you are foolish enough to put your money on the boys who slug them off the tee but who are not sure of themselves in the drop-spot areas.

The payoff comes on the national's billiard-table-like greens where a stroke instead of a tap will send the ball so far it will take a good eight iron to get it back.

Past performances show the lad with the eagle-eye for lining 'em up and with hands that are as sensitive to the touch of the putter as a surgeon's to his scalpel ends up with the silver pieces in the classic that this year is the United States' foremost competitive golfing event, since the U. S. Open has been put under shutters for the duration.

Horton Smith of Pinehurst, N. C., and the only entry to have latched onto the Masters' title twice since it was inaugurated in 1934, early discovered it was the short game that counted.

In his first crown win the initial year of the tourney, Smith's envious putting ability proved its worth when he dropped a 20-foter for a crucial birdie. His victory in 1936 resulted from a brilliant sub-regulation card that was featured by a remarkable 50-foot chip into the cup of the water-drenched 14th.

Full cognizance of the proof of the pudding was taken by Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., 1941 champion, who only too well remembers how Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn., nosed him out for first money in 1935 with a breath-taking double-eagle on the 485-yard 15th hole.

Track, Field Team Scores 107 Points Against County Foes

Circleville high's track and field team had easy going Tuesday afternoon against Pickaway and Salt Creek township teams, winning with a total of 107 points, against 33 for Pickaway and nine for Salt Creek. The match was the first for all the three teams, and several youngsters on each outfit showed promise.

The Tigers had just too much manpower for the smaller schools to match. The Red and Black lost only one first place position during the meet, John Miller of Pickaway copping first in the 115-yard low hurdles, with Freddie Immett, also of Pickaway, in second place.

The summary:

Ashville Senior High In County Scholarship Test

Ralph Mahaffey Scores
230 Out Of Possible
285 Total

LOCAL GIRLS NO. 2, 3
Scholarships Granted To Outstanding Among Students

Ralph Mahaffey, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey of Ashville, topped all senior students of Circleville and Pickaway county in the general scholarship test conducted March 28 at Circleville high school with a score of 230 out of a possible 285. Thirty-nine seniors took the examination. The Mahaffey youth's father is teacher of science and industrial arts in the Ashville schools.

Names of top ranking pupils were announced Tuesday by County Superintendent George D. McDowell.

The test included questions in mathematics, English, history, science and reading. Pupils receiving high scores are eligible for scholarships offered by various colleges and universities.

Local certificates or recognition will be issued to seniors holding the first ten places in the county standing. The first ten places represent the high 25 percent of the pupils who took the test.

Their names and scores follow: 1. Ralph Nelson Mahaffey, Ashville, 230; 2. Dorothy Cook, Circleville, 207; 3. Lois Elaine Madison, Circleville, 200; 4. Alma Emogene Carr, Atlanta, 193; 5. Mary Jane Higley, Ashville, 183; 6. Nellie Rosina Brown, Deer creek, 181; 7. Glenn W. Barnhart, Circleville, 180; 8. Harry L. Bowshier, Scioto, 177; 9. Louise Gertrude Clark, Walnut, 177; 10. Ernest Leroy Flanagan, Walnut, 176.

LINDBERGH LAW TO BE INVOKED AGAINST PAIR

CINCINNATI, April 8—Facing possible federal prosecution under the Lindbergh act, two Chicagoans were in custody today while authorities investigated their asserted confession that they kidnapped Mrs. Mary J. Jacobson, 33, of Calumet City, Ill., last March 31.

The prisoners, arrested yesterday, were identified as Joseph Delatore Hepburn, 22, and George Shimchuck, 25, both of Chicago.

Shimchuck walked into police headquarters and announced "I'm a wanted man." Later, police said, he confessed that he and a companion abducted Mrs. Jacobson as she entered her parked car in Hammond, Ind. Hepburn was arrested later.

Shimchuck said he surrendered because his "partner wanted to pull another job."

Police went into action after Mrs. Jacobson was found, bound and gagged, in the shrubbery of a suburban Cincinnati park. The woman said her abductors attacked her. Officers said a hospital examination substantiated her story.

The men also confessed, police announced, that two rings and a watch valued at $300 were taken from Mrs. Jacobson, and pawned. They said they were discharged from the army for drinking.

AKRON SITDOWN STRIKE AT END; CONFAB CALLED

AKRON, April 8—Forty-five hundred workers at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company resumed all-out war production today as a brief CIO sitdown strike of the balloon department workers ended.

The strike started yesterday afternoon in the spreader department when more than 100 workers, protesting a change in the pay rate, refused to continue work and sat down alongside their work benches.

Sherman H. Dalrymple, president of the CIO-Rubber United Workers Union, said the company posted new pay rates giving machine operators $1.50 an hour and helpers $1.45. This meant a "step-up in production and less pay," the Threat of a possible scarlet fever epidemic at the Derby school was believed to have passed Wednesday when Dr. A. D. more to the actual nearness of war. Japanese bombs will only increase the attitude of fatalism peculiar to the Indian masses, the Congress leader said.

The Congress is making every effort to combat this attitude, he said.

"Since the Japanese fleet is operating in the bay of Bengal and India is expecting news of further raids on the coast and shipping, how can we keep the masses from fleeing it is already too late to resist, whatever may happen in the future," he asked.

Unless the people definitely and immediately are given control of their own country and permitted to defend it with arms they cannot be diverted from such a dangerous attitude, the Congress leader stated.

The Congress then will forfeit its leadership of the people if the situation is allowed to get out of hand, he concluded.

Variations of the same fear were expressed by other Indian leaders and tension became evident in official circles.

With the Indian leaders growing more war-minded hourly it was reported that the powerful all-India Congress Party had decided to reject the British war cabinet's amended proposals to a plan under which India would win post-war independence.

RAF HITS TWO FRENCH CITIES IN DAY ATTACK

LONDON, April 8—RAF planes early today swept over the English channel to attack the Calais and Boulogne coastal areas of occupied France.

The planes charged across the straits in force through cloudy weather.

Watchers at Folkestone and neighboring coastal towns reported that they heard waves of fighter planes in the sky at 8 a. m.

Later, they said, vapor trails ascending to a height of 20,000 feet were visible through a clearing over the Calais and Boulogne areas.

NIPPONESE FORCES IN BURMA MOVING NORTH

NEW DELHI, April 8—British imperial troops in western Burma day, separated from the advancing were 40 miles north of Promote to Japanese by a 20-mile no man's land, but enemy tanks and trucks were moving north on both sides of the Irrawaddy, dispatches from the front reported.

An official British communique said that Japanese planes bombed a town in North Burma yesterday morning but "as far as is known," there had been no damage or casualties to military personnel or property.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE —

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks puny.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get the 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up."

Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10c and 25c.

GEN. MARSHALL, HARRY HOPKINS GO TO LONDON

Mission Of Uncle Sam's Army Chief Untold As Military Secret

mediate and frantic scramble for details of the mission that had brought America's number one military strategist to this country.

All official circles, however, were affably dumb regarding details of the journey and purpose of the visit. War-time conditions in London lend themselves admirably to preservation of secrets when officialdom is of a mind to keep things quiet but Marshall's arrival undoubtedly set a record for secrecy.

Press In Dark
Closest to it in the past was the meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill at sea. But this was known to hundreds of newspapermen before it was finally given out to the public. Even the press, on the other hand, was kept in ignorance of Marshall's journey.

Marshall and Hopkins will hold a press conference later.

In the meantime, it was assumed that they will talk with Britain's highest officials from Churchill down and with members of the imperial general staff.

Some London circles said it was obvious from the fact that Hopkins is here that the main purpose of the visit centers about supplies, particularly to Russia in the light of Germany's forthcoming offensive.

Some observers linked Marshall's surprise appearance with the necessity for United Nations staff talks at this stage of the war, with German drives in Russia, Libya and the Near East all threatening.

WAINWRIGHT'S SOLDIERS TAKE UP NEW LINES

War Office Says Situation In Philippines Moving Nearer Crisis

tack started two weeks ago yesterday, the defenders had been fighting along a line about midway down the Bataan peninsula beginning near Abucay.

The Abucay defense line was established February 26 when the defenders staged a surprise counter-attack which forced the Japanese back from one half to five miles all along the front.

Position of the new defense line was not identified by the War department, and spokesmen explained that Wainwright apparently has not had time to inform Washington how far he had withdrawn.

Mention during the last few days of heavy casualties on both sides, indicated the ferocity of the battle and made it plain that the American position was becoming increasingly dark due to the fact that Gen. Wainwright's forces could not afford the losses that the onslaught has cost them.

Rangoon Raid Confirmed
Meanwhile the War department confirmed reports from India that U. S. Army flying fortress bombers staged a successful raid on the Japanese held harbor of Rangoon on April 3.

Several tons of bombs were dropped, damaging docks and port facilities and starting three large fires, the communique reported.

Another sign of the times is bicycle garages.
